

Acknowledgements:

We would like to thank the following people and entities for providing invaluable knowledge, technical and emotional support to us and our work.

Josepha and Salvador Kintoki, for sharing extensive knowledge, through numerous interviews, on ethnic foods, related cultural facets, and examples of traditional and modern tools used to prepare, store and preserve food in Sonsorol Island.

- Governor Laura Ierago and Lieutenant Governor Isaac Theodore and the rest of the staff of Sonsorol State Government, for helping to provide fuel for our cars when carrying out interviews in Echang village, Koror State.
- Brothers Orue-Tamor and Sumor Albis, having provided the names of food fishes and food plants, giving too additional entries on foods that are unique to Pulo Anna.
- Saturnina Pedro, for sharing valuable information as to the preparation of several ethnic dishes from Sonsorol State and related aspects of culture.
- Obita Theodore, for providing information into the preparation of several food dishes from Hatohobei State.
- Domiciano Andrew, for providing examples of food preparation and preservation material and the making of many dishes from Hatohobei State.
- Cisma Andrew, for providing data on the preparation of several food dishes from Hatohobei.
- Frudencio Andres of Merir Island, for sharing his knowledge on a few dishes from his home island.
- Huana Sapemang, for giving information on several food dishes from Sonsorol Island.
- Lorenzo Simeon of Hatohobei State, for providing data, through numerous interviews, of many fishes, traditional dishes and their related folklore.
- David Pedro of Sonsorol State, for occasionally giving hints as to certain foods and the details of which we could ask of to give further detail to several dishes.
- Thomas Patris, Delegate of Hatohobei State, for providing the names of several food fishes and the preparation of several traditional dishes from Hatohobei.
- Patris Tahimaremaho of Hatohobei State, for providing information on the preparation of several dishes and their relation to certain cultural aspects of the island.

- Maria Felix, for giving valuable knowledge on the preparation of numerous ethnic dishes of Hatohobei State and their related cultural facets.
- Joel Miles, Professor of Agriculture at Palau Community College, for valuable assistance in the editing of our work and the identification of several plants.

Staff of Palau Community College Library, for giving material support, bibliographical resources and clear space needed to complete many of the illustrations in our paper.

- Tarita Holm of Palau Conservation Society (presently employed at PICRC) for providing us with a database of plant names from which we formed the greater portion of our plant species list.
- Theo Isamu and Evelyn Oitering of Palau Marine Resources Department for Helping us in finding the English and scientific names for certain fish found in the Southwest islands.

Sandy Fernandez, Moline Smaserui and the rest of the Belau Museum staff for assisting us in the identification of certain plants and allowing us to borrow a number of books for our research.

The staff of Palau Agricultural and Mineral Resources Development for providing us with a bibliographical resource from which we identified certain plants species and personally assisting us in the process.

- Rhine Remoket of Computers Plus, for giving invaluable assistance to us in digitizing all of our illustrations, refining and helping to arrange them in our paper.
- Research Center staff of Palau International Coral Research Center (PICRC) for allowing us to utilize their library when identifying certain sealife that were consumed.