

IX: Names of Relevant Sea Life

The following table is a list of relevant sea life that are consumed in the islands. The local names are ordered similarly to the previous list. For many of the entries, one would find that some names from any of the three main islands would be missing. Due to time constraints, with many of them we were unable to record their names. The English and scientific names are predominantly derived from the Robert F. Myers book, Micronesian Reef Fishes. For convenience, the headings of the first and second columns are footnoted with xv, indicating the main source from which most of the entries are derived. Any other entry that is from a different source is footnoted at its scientific name.
